Lit glass is a medium unto itself.

Its brilliant glow makes magic of any space and mystery of every shadow.

In Samuel Decker's hands the magic and mystery of glass comes alive. Samuel specializes in large-scale hand-blown art glass installations and unique light fixtures that show off the brilliance, mystery and magic of lit glass.

This Pacific Northwest artist's modern, abstract pieces are painstakingly and lovingly created from many pieces of smaller hand-blown glass, often resembling floral and sea patterns when completed. Samuel often combines his hand-blown glass with metal, resulting in grace and solidity captured in enchanting harmony. Each piece of art that Samuel creates is hand made in Eugene, OR at his studio.

This short portfolio is a small sampling of Samuel's work which are from his art series' or custom made to order based on designer specifications.
